To whom this may concern,

This certificate confirms that the account holder identified above created and/or edited the identified visual asset using EZFigure, and that this authorization applies to the asset and export version referenced in this document.

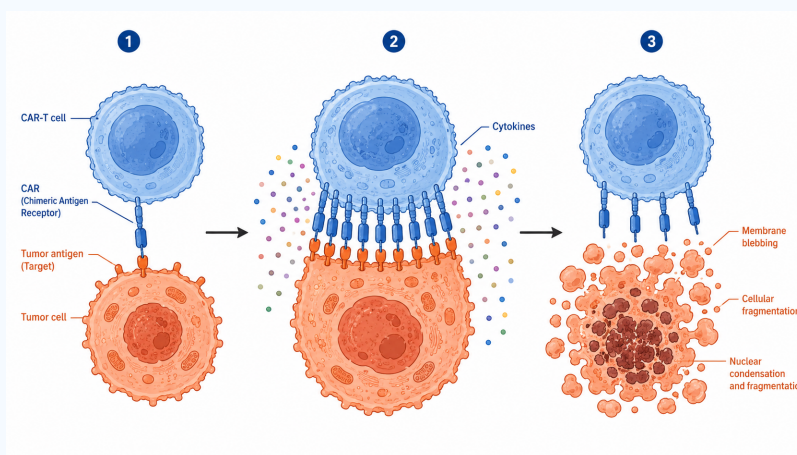

EZFigure authorizes the account holder to use, reproduce, display, distribute, and publish the identified asset for commercial, academic, educational, and professional purposes, subject to the EZFigure Terms of Service and the account status associated with this certificate.

The account holder remains responsible for their underlying research content, uploaded materials, labels, claims, and any independent intellectual property included in the asset. EZFigure does not claim ownership of those materials. Where EZFigure-provided templates, design elements, or platform assets are incorporated into the final output, EZFigure grants a non-exclusive, worldwide license to use those elements as part of the identified asset.

Minor export and presentation adjustments, including cropping, resizing, formatting, labeling, annotation, and layout changes, are permitted. A materially different asset, substantial re-generation, or major composition change may require a new authorization document.

This certificate is an EZFigure-issued authorization record. It is not a copyright registration, legal opinion, government-issued certificate, publisher approval, journal approval, marketplace approval, or guarantee that any third party will accept the asset.
